Committee on European Satellites

(Eusat Committee Meeting - 13th Meeting - 1330 16 May 1956)

Present:
25X1A9a

25X1A9a

The topic under consideration in this week's meeting was "Intelligence Sources on the Eusats". [REDACTED] presented a table and led the discussion drawing upon his extensive experience with CIA both in Washington and Europe. In addition to regular members of the Eusat Committee the following analysts from D/I and D/M participated in the discussion:

25X1X7

[REDACTED] The self-initiated evaluation was considered to be an especially effective means by which the analyst can guide the field collectors and thus assure that the most useful information is gathered.

Lack of sufficient time did not permit the speaker to cover the closely related subject of external research opportunities [REDACTED]. It is anticipated that he will return at a later date to discuss this significant topic.

Definite program arrangements have not yet been completed for the 23 May meeting. Should it not be possible to secure an outside speaker the meeting will be devoted to a discussion of significant current developments in the Eusat area. Members are urged to convene promptly next Wednesday at 1330 in room 2125 M.
